PARISA DAMANDAN

Over a period of 10 years, Damandan acquired more than 20,000 original copies and negatives, mostly glass plates of different sizes and makes. The plates had been exposed in every camera imaginable, from wooden boxes to pure light and everything in between. She spent many years assembling this sizeable collection of portrait photographs, taken during the first half of the 20th century. They provide a remarkable insight into life in Iran at a time when its traditional culture was giving way to modernity – a transformation that was in ways reversed after 1979.

من شکوفایی گل‌های امیدم را در رویاها می‌بینم
، و ندایی که به من می‌گوید
، گرچه شب تاریک است
دل قوی دار
سحر نزدیک است.

FROM REALISM TO ABSTRACT

1. Choose a Lived Experience.
2. Think of “I pick up the stone.”
3. Draw a few lines and shapes on a sheet of paper.
4. Choose two Colors.
5. Use the darker color to make a thin paint and cover your canvas (Demo) and let it dry.
Optional: use a piece of plastic wrap to create texture on your canvas. Let it dry.
6. Use the lighter color to draw the same shapes and lines you initially drew on the paper.
7. Use some white and a color closer to your lighter color to create a few different combinations and shades. Use them to cover some areas around the lighter color. Do not overdo it! Do not cover the light area, even if it looks incomplete!
8. Add dark blue to your darker color and draw a few lines around some of the light areas.
9. Take your time and don't rush the process.
